THE POLICE FORCE IN A RAGE

FURIOUS AT JUSTICE MURRAY'S ATTACK. DENUNCIATION ON BOTH SIDES-RELEASING UN-

LICENSED DEALERS, The Police Department was in a furious rage yesterday over the remarks made by Police Justice Murray in the Tombs Police Court on Tuesday, when he discharged two liquor-dealers. His language was reported as follows:

guage was reported as follows:

These spasmodic raids are outrageous. Every one knows that they are simply ordered by police captains to extort money from policy and liquor dealers in their respective precincts. I am disgusted with the police force through my experience as a magistrate. The rottenness becomes plain when police captains, getting a salary of only $2,000 a year, can in a short time own valuable real estate in the city, cottages on the seashore, and live like infillonnaires the year round. This thing has become notorious. It is a shame and a disgrace to this city. These men openly exist on the spoils of their precincts by levying blackmall. They rule their precincts like petty princes, and in carrying out their nefarious plans have often used inexperienced Police Justices in persecuting their victims. They used me when I first came on the bench by asking me to be severe with certain offenders, but I have learned that it was not with a desire that justice should be done; it was simply an effective move on the part of the captain to notify others in the precinct to 'come up and settle.'

This is an honest explanation of all these raids. They are infamous, and I am astonished that the people tolerrate them. Police affairs in this city were never more rotten that at present. The time is near at hand when there will be a change. It must come, for these men are getting dup by day more audaelous.

there will be a change. It must come, for these men are getting day by day more andaclous.

Captains who came to Police Headquarters after reading this spoke of Justice Murray in extremely strong language. They said that he was the last man who should make such charges. They referred to rumors regarding the way in which his place on the bench was protured; they brought up the old charge that when a policeman in July, 1863, he refused to serve against the roters; they talked about an illicit distillery on the west side of the city some years ago, and about the use of his position in the interest of liquor-dealers who violated the law. Commissioners French and Mason said that if he had used the language published he had maliciously lied. Mr French thought that Mr. Murray intended to get the votes of the liquor-dealers. He said the department records showed that Henry Murray was appointed a policeman on May 1, 1861, was absent from his post in the Twentieth Precinct without leave, while the riot of 1863 was in progress, and resigned on July 24, 1863.

While tongues were thus wagging against him, Justice Murray entered the office of Commissioner Mason. He said that his language had not been reported correctly. Mr. Mason urged him to state over his own signature just what he did say, and later he put the request in a formal letter, but Mr. Murray declined to do this.

A THIBUNE reporter asked the Justice in the afternoon in what points the report of his language was incorrect. "Part of the report is true and part of it is false," he replied. "I was being reported."

"Did you say," asked the reporter, "that the

about the raids, never thinking I was being reported."
"Did you say," asked the reporter, "that the captains ordered the raids to extort money from policy and liquor deaders?"
"I said nothing of the kind."
Several reporters who had been present then told the Justice that they had so understood him.
"I did say this, which I recall, and it is true," continued the Justice, "I am disgusted with the police force through my experience as a magistrate. The rottenness becomes plain when police captains getting a salary of only $2,000 a year, can n a short time own valuable real estate in the city, cottages on the senshore, and live like millionnaires." "I don't know them so well as I do Mr. Mason."

"Did you, when a policeman in 1863, refuse to serve against the rioters?"

"It is a lie, an infamous lie!"
About ten years after I left the police force, in the trial over my election to my present place, Police Superintendent John A. Kennedy swore to that on the stand one day, but he came back the next day and denied his own statement. Superintendent Wa ling was then my captain, and he swore in that same trial that my resignation was regular, and was asked for in May, 1863, but it was not granted until June 25. I resigned from the police force to go into the coke business."

Justice Murray released fifteen liquor-dealers who had been arrested for selling liquor on licenses which the police declared were void, because the holders had been convicted of violating the Excise law. The Justice said licenses remained good until revoked by the Excise Board. In thus holding he ran counter to a Supreme Court decision of 1875. Inspector Thorne said that the liquor-dealers might save time and money by consulting this decision. In the case of the People against Patrick Tighe (reported in 5 Hun, 25), brought up on appeal from the Court of Sessions of Livingston County, the Supreme Court held, Justice Gilbert delivering the opinion, that by the Act of 1873 (chapter 540, section 8) licenses were absolutely forfeited and annualled by convictions. nulled by convictions.

FALSE REPORTS ABOUT MR. TILDEN.

FALSE REPORTS ABOUT MR. TILDEN.

The statement was made by The iteral on Sanday that Sannel J. Tilden had provided in his will for leaving his large double house on the south side of Gramerey Park (which has cost with the ground about $500,000) and his collection of books engravings, etc., as a free gift to the public, the control of the bequest to be in the hands of John Rigelow, Henry Watterson, and Mauton Marble. For a considerable time workmen have been busy under the direction of Calvert Vaux, the architect, reconstructing Mr. Tilden's old house and the one adjoining, purchased by him several years ago, and the double building is now nearly ready for occupancy.

Several intimate friends of Mr. Tilden, when asked about the alleged bequest by a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday, said that they had heard nothing whatever of the proposed free public library and art gallery. The large city mansion is no new scheme. Mr. Tilden purchased the house adjoining his own in 1873. Soon afterward he went to Europe, intending to begin the work of reconstructing his houses when he returned. When he came back in 1874 he was elected Governor, and for two years afterward was necessarily at Albany. Then came the Presidential campaign of 1876, and the excitement that succeeded it. Mr. Tilden purchased Greystone, near Yonkers, and that engressed much of his attention. Finally he turned again to his old scheme, and the result is the handsome house in Gramercy Park.

"What Mr. Tilden proposes to do with his large estate I do not believe any one knows," said one of his intimate friends yesterday. "Certainly he is one of the last men to make such an announcement as that given in The Boild when a simple codicil to his will or a fire burning in an open grate would end the scheme if he saw fit to change his mind at any time."

The further announcement that Mr. Tilden and a Several intimate friends of Mr. Tilden, when

KROOSZ AND HIS ROBBER SOCIETY.

The examination in the case of Christian Kroosz, who is accused of being the treasurer in the A. B. C. Union of grocers' clerks, and of inducing a number of clerks to steal from their employers, was continued yesterday in the Yorkville Police Court. Colonel Charles S. Spencer appeared as counsel for Kroosz and Charles Steckler in behalf of the Retail Grocers' Union, which is conducting the prosecution. Henry Fulle, of No. 823 Second-ave., appeared as complainant, and in his affidavit stated that Kroosz had received stolen goods at various dates between August 25 and November 29. Colonel Spencer objected to the complaint as not being sufficiently explicit. Mr. Steckler selected the payment made on November 29, by Herman Tietjens, one of Mr. Fulle's clerks, as the specific charge on which he would go to trial.

Tietjens on being sworn said that he had know Kroosz about two years. In the latter part of August he was induced to go into the A. B. C. Union and as he was expected to pay into the Union $125 a poorth while bis sailary was only $12 a month, he KROOSZ AND HIS ROBBER SOCIETY.

A COOL LOBBYIST.

While the Board of Aldermen was in session yesterday a tail, slim, well-dressed man leaned over toward Alderman Kirk and said confidentially: "Alderman, please do me the tavor to have this resolution with the accompanying report passed by your honorable body." Mr. Kirk took the proffered communication, and was astonished to read:

HIS ENTIRE FORTUNE—HIS WILL.

An unpretentious cottage, surrounded by a garden, in one of the side streets of Astoria two blocks from the ferry, is the home of Addie Bresnan, age fourteen, who eloped from the home of the family that adopted her with Captain George J. Gordon, age fifty, on Monday, and was found with him in a Jersey City hotel, on Tuesday night. Shortly after 2 p. m yesterday a ceach rolled up to the door of the cottage, and Mr. Bresnan, with a sergeant of the Astoria police, assisted Addie to alight. The girl was warmly greeted by her mother. Her sorrow for her escapade showed itself in her face. When a Tribune reporter asked her the reason why she went with Gordon, she answered: "He told me that he was wealthy and I believed him. No, I didn't love him; in fact, I didn't like him, and on the second day I made up my mind to run away from him and go to some friends of papa's living in Jersey City. Before he was arrested he showed me the accounts in the newspapers, and told me to tell the police, if we were caught, that I went away with him willingly, and that the reason why I did so was because they treated me badly at home. In court this morning I said that I had been badly treated; but it was not true. He always carried a pistol, and when I was with him he used to threaten me."

When Gordon was arrested in the room at Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City, he had less than 50 cents in his possession. When he left Astoria all the money he had was $11. Although he asserted that he had a large income, he was in receipt only of a small salary as a copying clerk and had no other income. He pledged his gold watch with the clerk of Taylor's Hotel for room-rent and board. When he was arraigned in Justice Stilsing, in denying the application of the Astoria police sergeant, said that he would probably find it necessary to hold Gordon for a more serious offence than abduction, and set down the examination of the prisoner for this morning.

Mr. Bresnan informed the reporter th HIS ENTIRE FORTUNE-HIS WILL.

down the examination of the prisoner for this morning.

Mr. Bresnan informed the reporter that he intended to prosecute Gordon both in Jersey City and in Astoria. He said that during the time she had lived in his house as his child Addie had been dutiful in every respect, and was treated as one of his own children. His wife had taken her from some friends in New-Jersey when she was a baby, and had always regarded her as a daughter. Gordon, he continued, had been guilty of several actions similar to the one for which he intended to prosecute him, and in one instance a father, ascertaining that the man had been making presents to his child, had ordered him out of his house at the muzzle of a revolver, and had threatened to shoot him if he persisted in continuing his attentions.

Mr. Bresnan was shown a copy of a paper found in the room occupied by Gordon and the girl in Jersey City. It purported to be Gordon's "last will and testament," in which, "considering the uncertainty of this frail and transitory world," he gave and bequeathed unto Addie Bresnan all his bonds, stocks, real estate, railway stocks, jewelry, furniture, beds, bedding, etc., for her sole use and benefit." One clause of the "will" was: "It is my desire that I be buried beside my wife in my plot in Evergreen Cemetery, my funeral to be as quiet as possible, and I also ask as a favor that Addie at her death be buried beside me." The "will" finally provided that "none of my relations contest this my last will and testament, as it is my desire that they receive nothing of my setate."

AGAINST ELECTRIC LIGHT WIRES.

AGAINST ELECTRIC LIGHT WIRES.

The Committee on Finance of the Board of Aldermen have presented a long report with reference to erection of poles in the city to support telegraph, telephone, electric light and other wires. The committee says it has examined the question so far as it relates to the erection and use of poles for electric light wires. There are now in use wires by the Edison, United States, and Brush Illuminating Companies. The committee is of the opinion that prompt action is necessary by the Common Council to relieve the citizens from an evil which is daily increasing, and that has already attained a growth which is alarming. The loss of property by fire caused by the contact of electric conductors can be made good, butwhen lives are endangered it is the imperative duty of the Common Council to interpose between the citizens and the electric illuminating companies, and compel a compliance with the terms of their grants from the corporate authorities by requiring them to remove the poles and wires from the highways, and lay their tubes, wires and conductors beneath the surface of the streets. The committee automitted an ordinance requiring every illuminating company within six months from the passage of the act to lay its wires or conductors underground, and for removal of all the poles now in use, Refusal or neglect to comply with the requirements of the ordinance subjects the ofiending companies to a heavy fine, which may be imposed by any police magistrate, one-half to go to the informer or complanant. The report and ordinance were laid over for one week under the rules. AGAINST ELECTRIC LIGHT WIRES.

SEIZURE BY CAPTAIN BRACKETT. Captain Charles N. Brackett, special agent of the Treasury Department, yesterday seized eighteen cases of furs imported at an undervaluation. He claims that he has proof of intent to defraud, and chains that he has proof of ment to defrada, and this scizure may lead to important results. He received information a few days ago as to the practices of the New-York agent of a Belgian manufacturer, and awaited a shipment to him. Then he called the Appraiser's attention to the undervaluation of the furs, which amounted to 50 per cent, and he succeeded in obtaining the entire correspondence on the subject, which disclosed the intent to defraud. The eighteen cases were the property of a merchant who had ordered them through the importer, and who probably did not know of the undervaluation. The cases are now in the seizurerom of the Custom Honse. The value is $10,000. Other seizures are expected. Captain Brackett said yesterday: "This seizure may solve the problem whether a Custom Honse oath can be taken with impunity by an importer who knows that he is swearing falsely." cizure may lead to important results. TO RAISE MONEY FOR TRINITY COLLEGE.

A committee consisting of Henry J. Scudder, William G. Davies, Fordham Morris, and William E. Curtis, of this city, and Sidney G. Fisher, of Philadelphia, was recently appointed by the Alumni Association of Trinity College to raise funds for that institution. It held its first meeting last evening at the house of the chairman, Mr. Scudder, and perfected a plan of action. The purpose of the committee is to raise money more thoroughly to equip the scientific departments of the college and endow new professorships, build a house for the president, etc. For many years this college, though reputed wealthy, has been in need of money. This want is particularly felt at present, because of the various changes and improvements made by the new president of the college, and the new demands arising in consequence. The committee purposes to appoint sub-committees to assist it in different sections of the country, Chicago, Savannah, Pittsburg, Phila-TO RAISE MONEY FOR TRINITY COLLEGE. the country, Chicago, Savannah, Pittsburg, Phila-delphia, Hartford and other cities. INTERFERING WITH A LETTER-CARRIER.

Martin Manning, a young mean who has already served a term in the Reformatory, was arrested yesterday for interfering with a letter-carrier in the discharge of his duties. Thomas H. McCormack, a letter-carrier, complained before Commassioner Osborn that as he was passing along One-hundred-and-twenty-lifth-st, on the evening of December I he was jostled against by Manning, who immediately turned and struck him several severe blows and snatched away his letter-bag. Manning was taken before the Commissioner and denied his guilt. Henry Myer, Frederick A. Chandler and Thomas J. Morris, who were also carriers at Station L. and who were walking with McCormack, corroborated his account of the affair. Manning said that heorly brushed against the carrier accidentally and that the carrier then struck him. THE MORAVIA'S FIRST TRIP.

The new steamship Moravia, of the Hamburg-American Line, arrived here yesterday upon her first transatlantic voyage. She is commanded by Captain Petzholdt, formerly of the Bohemia, and was built at tilasgow of iron and steel. Her structure is on the bracket system, which, it is said, gives her great strength and stability. She is designed principally for carrying freight, but she has accommodations for 1,300 steerage passengers. Her length is 360 feet; breadth of beam, 42 feet; depth of hold, 35 feet; gross tonnage, 3,738 tons. She is divided into ten water-tight compartments, and is fitted with modern appliances, including steam stearing gear. She has a double deck fore and aft, and her high spar deck is specially adapted for the comfort of steerage passengers. Her first voyage was an unusually stormy one, and the heavy seas crushed three of her boats.

TRUTH ABOUT AN ALLEGED ABDUCTION. "Alderman, please do me the layor to have this resolution with the accompanying report passed by your honorable body." Mr. Kirk took the profered communication, and was astonished to read:

The Committee on Public Buildings report the annexed resolution for the consideration of the Board of Alderman, December 5, 1883:

Resolved, That the Commissioner of Public Works be and he is hereby authorized and directed to supply the County Court-House in the city of New-York with—'s patent ventilating apparatus at a price not exceeding 27,000.

When he had recovered from his annazement at the coolness of the request, Mr. Kirk inquired:
"Who are you, to ask this of me? I don't know you, and even if I did, what right have you or any one else to seek to rob the city of $27,000?"

President Reilly, who was standing near (Alderman Wells being in the chair), said to the stranger:

THE SWINDLING OF COTTON MERCHANTS.

The dispatches which were received yesterday from Dallas, Texas, stating that several cotton merchants, including Lehman Brothers, Hermann Brothers and Fatman & Co., of this city, had been swindled by fraudulent bills of lading caused considerable uneasiness. One of the persons interested said, "We were advised that a merchant of Dallas, Texas, by the name of Lahnstein, who has done considerable business for New-York houses, had shipped about 1,400 bales of cotton by the Texas Pacific Railway. The bills of lading were signed by Edward D. Eaton, an agent of that company, who has since absconded, and we advanced upon them. As the cotton failed to come an investigation was made, and we learned that the bills of lading were fraudulent. It is not believed that Lahnstein is a party to the fraud, but that he has undoubtedly been imposed upon by a man in Sherman Texas. The Texas Pacific people must make good the discrepancies of their agent, for unless the railroads are willing to guarantee the acts of their agents it must paralyze business."

CHALLENGED TO MORTAL COMBAT. CHALLENGED TO MORTAL COMBAT.

St. John Robinson and John P. Lawrence, two clerks in the Register's office, quarrelled on Saturday as to who should occupy a certain stool, and almost came to blows. Robinson, who was graduated at Heidelberg, handed Lawrence his card and demanded that he should name a place of meeting. Lawrence did not understand that it was a challenge to mortal combat, but the other clerks wrote directions for a meeting at a restaurant near by. Robinson hastened to the spot but waited in vain for his opponent. Yesterday the pair met, and Lawrence apologized, declaring, however, that it was highly improper in America to issue a challenge to a duel. A reconciliation was effected and the office was invited to a neighboring hostelry. neighboring hostelry.

He had no lawyer, and counsel was assigned him. After endeavoring to converse with his client, the lawyer announced that the prisoner did not seem to understand a word of English. The police officer who made the arrest said to the Judge: "He can speak English well enough if he wants to. He offered me $10 to let him go when I arrested him."

"You-m lie; yeth-thir-ee, you-m lie," said the excited Chinaman, who appeared to have no difficulty in understanding the officer's remark. John was remanded for trial.

A GERMAN DEFAULTER SENT HOME.

Louis Kittnacker, a defaulting postmasier from the town of Pophingen, Wurtemburg, Germany, who was arrested in Chicago on Saturday by Pinkerton's detectives, was sent home to Germany yesterday on the Westphalia, where he will be tried for stealing $7,000 from the Imperial Government. On arriving in Chicago Kittnacher found employment in writing for several German Catholic weekly papers, under an assumed name. It was through a decoy advertisement offering a situation to a German accountant that he was discovered. When taken before the German Consul he made a full confession. Kittnacher is a fine-looking man of over six feet in height. He is well connected in his own country. The punishment for his crime is twenty-five years' imprisonment.

swindling a Man From Mississiff.

A young man rushed wildly about the Pennsylvania Railroad depot in Jersey City yesterday morning looking for a police officer. He said that he was from Natchez, Miss.; that his name was Chambliss, and that he had been swindled by a "banco steerer" out of $3.50. He did not care for the money, he said; the experience was worth it, but he wanted to have the thief arrested. The thief was an old man with white hair and an honest look. He had offered to show the young man a house he was looking for. Chambliss lent him $3.50 to pay another man, who presented a bill to him, until he could get a check cashed. The last he saw of the honest old man he was running rapidly around a corner two blocks away.

A GOOD PRICE FOR A 1663 BIBLE.

The Cooke library sale, which was continued at Clinton Hall yesterday, was well attended. One of the curiosities was John Eliot's Indian Bible. This is one of the copies having the dedication of King Charles, of which twenty copies only were said be printed. It bears the date of 1663. After some brisk bidding the volume was knocked down for $1,250, $350 more than the original cost to Mr. Cooke, Ferdinand Gorges's work, "America Painted to the Life," London, 1659, brought $50, and a second volume, relating to the development of New-England, $60. Richard Hakluyt's "Principal Navigations, Vocages, Traffiques, and Discoveries of the English Nation," in three volumes, was sold for $144.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE ORTHOPEDIC ROSPITAL.
The New-York Orthopedic Dispensary and Hospital held its regular anniversary meeting yesterday afternoon at No. 126 East Fifty-ninth-st. Mrs. W. M. Bliss, president of the Ladies' Board, read the annual report. A free hospital bed had been endowed with $3,000 in memory of Miss C. B. Hicks. An appeal was made to the public for the endowment of the nine remaining beds. Addresses were made by Dr. Andrew H. Smith, the Rev. Dr. J. S. Shipman, and Dr. Newton M. Shaffer, surgeon in charge of the institution, who reported that 1,500 patients had been treated during the year for spine and hip diseases, and that 250 had been discharged cured.

BROOKLYN.

The Grand Jury sworn in yesterday has Gaylord McFaul, of Flatbush, as foreman. Fifty new street fire-alarm boxes are to be added to the eighty-six now in use.

A number of manufacturers appeared before Mayor Low yesterday, and protested against the action of the Aldermen in passing an ordinance prohibiting the manufacture of cream-of-tartar in the city.

A verdict awarding $1,000 as damages was rendered yesterday in the snit of James Hood against the National Meter Company, in whose works, at No. 79 First-st., E. D., where he was employed, he broke his leg.

Richard Curran and Henry Boyle, who were arrested for a brutal assault upon a sick woman, Mrs. Henrietta Ehret, while they were conveying her from East New-York to the County Hospital, were held yesterday for the action of the Grand Jury.

The Commissioners of Charities and Correction yesterday appointed Mrs. Annie G. Hammond matron of the County Almshouse, to succeed Mrs. Ann Cavanagh, removed. Mrs. Gardner, who was first appointed declined the place.

The Rev. Casper Jost, of the East German Methodist Conference, died on Tuesday at the house of his daughter, No. 231 Rodney-st., at the age of sixty-five. The funeral will take place to-morrow in the German Methodist Church, in Second-st., New-York.

New-York.

The jury, before which was tried the suit of W. C. Hency, to recover pay for his services as private secretary to "Dr." Monck, the renegade clergyman and spiritualist, who pretends to heat diseases by "laying-on of hands," found a verdict yesterday, allowing the plaintiff $300 for his services for fifteen weeks, from which $90 for board and $134.65 loaned him by Monck were to be deducted. A motion was made for a new trial.

motion was made for a new trial.

James Raney his wife and five children were found in rags and wretchedness in a miserable hovel in Hoyt-st., yesterday, by an officer of the Society for the Prevention of Crucity to Children, and he arrested them as vagrants, the neighbors having complained that the children were forced to go hungry and half-clothed in rags, while the father got tiquor with what money he carned and what the children begged. Justice Bergen sent the children to the alushouse and the father to jail for drukenness.

After Robert Doyle, of No. 328 Navy-st., had been knocked down in a fight with a man named Perkins, in Alabama-ave. East New-York, on Tuesday, he was severely kicked in the abdomen by Bernard Campbell, of No. 1,473 Dean-st., who was an entire stranger to Doyle and passed by where he lay. Blood spurted from the injured man's mouth and nose. Peritonitis set in yesterday and his recovery is deemed hopeless. Campbell is under arrest.

In the suit brought by Mrs. Minnie F. Dawley agains Charles F. Dawley to have their marriage declared null and void, because her uncle forced them to marry by placing a pistol at Dawley's head and compelling him to swear that he would wed her, the referee has reported in favor of the plaintiff. The parties to the action did not live together after the ceremony of marriage was performed. They are respectively nineteen and twenty-one years of age.

JERSEY CITY

Nicolo Alexandro, in the Hudson County Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday was charged with the murder of Vincenzo Tartaro, at Newark and Grand sts., Hoboken, on September 21. Judges Knapp, McGiil and Fry were on the bench, and the State was represented by Prosecutor Charles H. Winfield, while Robert H. Racey, of New-York, ex-Judge Hoffman and John W. Herbert appeared for the defence. Tartaro died on October & from the effects of wounds inflicted by Alexandro with a knife. The defence will endeavor to prove, however, that Tartaro died from improper medical treatment, and not from his wound. treatment, and not from his wound WESTCHESTER COUNTY.
